Re: U.S. v. Shehadeh, Abdel
Docket No.: 10-1020 (ENV)

Dear Judge Vitaliano:

I have this day received the Government's motion in limine. Yesterday, I received the search warrant affidavit, execution of which "discovered" much of the information on which the motion is based.

We do not yet have a trial date and I have yet to received all the classified information. I have not examined the classified information that has been delivered as we have been waiting for my para legal's clearance. That should have been forthcoming a while ago. I am not aware that her clearance has presented any problem.

Because of a personal commitment of ten days out of the office, I am requesting a month and a half to respond to the Government's motion and, if appropriate, challenge the search warrant. Although I did not mention the challenge to the search warrant when I spoke to the Government, the Government has consented to the time I am requesting for my response.

Respectfully yours,

Frederick H. Cohn
